Legionnaires at Home Are Speculating on Probable Choice of Convention for New National Chief

Posthumous Honors Given to Charles P. Errington, Crippled Veteran, by the Authorities of N. Y. U.

Reports from the national convention of the Legion in New Orleans indicate that its progress has been satisfactory as had been anticipated, and that the final session at the end of the week will conclude the greatest gathering of Legionnaires since the organization was formed.

The most interesting event from the point of view of the Legionnaires themselves will take place to-morrow, when the new national commander will be elected. Among Legionnaires at home there is considerable speculation as to who will be placed in office, and the number of candidates has been increasing each day. William F. Deegan, vice-commander of the Legion for the State of New York, has been mentioned from the beginning as the one most likely to receive the honor and it is believed to be leading the field. Several state delegations have pledged their support, and those from New York, particularly those of the Bronx, are confident of his success. Some of the states, however, still are undecided. Other candidates are George L. Berry, vice-commander and an official of the American Federation of Labor; Colonel A. A. Sprague, chairman of the Legion rehabilitation committee; William H. Healey, of Pennsylvania, and Alvin M. Owsley, of Texas.

San Francisco has been announced as the place for the next annual convention, which will be held from October 15 to 19.

One of the most impressive features of the convention took place on Tuesday, when Commander MacNider introduced General Russ, vice-commander in chief of the G. A. R., and Captain Bacon, of the United Confederate Veterans. These two stood side by side on the platform while a colorbearer marched up to them and took his place between them. Both grasped the flag with one hand and heartily shook hands with the other. It made an appealing picture, which the Legionnaires fully appreciated.

The principal event of yesterday was the parade of more than 40,000 men and women, representing every branch of the government service during the war, and which was led by General Pershing.

Change in Constitution Urged

George Brokaw Compton, who resigned as chairman of the New York County Legion in March, 1920, as a protest, he said, against the demand of the national executive committee of the Legion for a bonus for able-bodied veterans, has sent a circular letter to the one thousand delegates at the national convention urging the following amendment to the constitution of the Legion:

"The American Legion places the welfare of all the people above the interests of its own members as a class. It shall not advocate nor in any way seek to obtain bonuses, adjusted compensation, pensions or absolute civil service preference for its members except for those who were disabled in service."

In a statement accompanying the proposed amendment Mr. Compton says:

"The adoption of the proposed amendment would enable the Legion to place its intentions above suspicion. In no other way can it regain the public confidence and respect which it lost by advocating beneficial legislation for its able-bodied members, and which are essential to its growth in numbers and in wholesome influence."

Posthumous Honors to Veteran

Charles Paul Errington, a crippled veteran, who died last summer shortly after completing his third year in New York University, has been voted a posthumous certificate of proficiency with honor by the university authorities. Such honor has been accorded only once before in the history of the institution. The faculty also voted to the following letter to Errington's widowed mother, Mrs. Edith C. Errington, of 80 West 16th Street:

"The faculty of the School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance of New York University has voted to grant a posthumous certificate of proficiency with honor to your deceased son, Charles Paul Errington.

"This is the only means we have of expressing to you and to all who knew your son the wonderful esteem in which he was held by the students and faculty of this university. His scholarship was extraordinary, considering the difficulties under which he labored."

Errington was a member of the New York University Post of the Legion, which has adopted the following resolution:

"To the members of New York University Post 750, American Legion, composed of disabled veterans of the World War, Charles Errington was a noble example of courage in the face of a terrible handicap. Able to move his feet only a few inches at a time, still with the aid of two canes he bravely and slowly traveled each day to his classes in the university. His spirit of cheerfulness and never failing good humor in the face of obstacles that would have daunted most men made him loved by all whose good fortune it was to know him.

"Although the life span of Charles Errington was short, his life has been a success. He served his country as a soldier in time of war and then, when almost totally paralyzed, served his fellowmen by the splendid example he set in trying to overcome an almost insurmountable handicap."

Brooks Post Dance

The Belvidere Brooks Post will hold its first dance of the season to-morrow night at its headquarters in the Bloomingdale Boat Club, 1024 Street and Riverside Drive. It is announced that tickets will be $1 a couple, and that they may be bought either from members or at the door. The committee in charge promises several novelties during the evening and excellent music.

Tiger Post to Meet

A regular meeting of the Tiger Post will be held to-morrow night at Shanley's, 117 West Forty-second Street, at 8 o'clock. William Tobias Butler will address the meeting on the subject of immigration.

The Tiger Post Auxiliary will meet at the same time and place.

Nazimova to Return to Stage in Herzog Play in November

Nazimova is to return to the speaking stage next month in "Tilla" by Ferenc Herzog. Louis K. Anspacher, author of "That Day" and "The Unchastened Woman," has made the American adaptation of the play in which the actress will appear under the direction of Charles Bryant.

Co-incidence with Nazimova's reappearance in the legitimate drama will be the presentation of "Salome" her latest screen play, based on Oscar Wilde's drama.

France Favors Earlier Parley On Turk Peace

Poincare Informs Curzon He Prefers Oct. 30th to November Date Suggested by the British Minister

Italians Move Into Thrace

Evacuation of Greeks Is Hampered by Press of Thousands of Refugees

PARIS, Oct. 18.—Premier Poincare, in reply to Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, who proposed the convening of the peace conference early in November, is reported to have suggested October 30 as the date and to have declared he was ready to send delegates to Lausanne if the Turks agreed to that plan.

The British government thus far has not replied, according to the "Temps," but has suggested through the ambassadors at Paris and Rome a preliminary meeting of economic and financial experts in London about October 20. The "Temps" weighs the advantages and disadvantages of such a gathering and contends that the British government, in any economic or financial development, would almost inevitably be bound up with the idea of military and political domination.

France Resents Debt Intimation

There is considerable feeling in official quarters over alleged intimations in British circles that France, in offering to reduce the German indemnity in return for cancellation of her debt, is giving up something she never would receive.

RODOSTO, Oct. 18 (By The Associated Press). The evacuation of the Greek army in the area assigned to the Italian battalion has been completed and the Italians have been requested to take over further territory. The military evacuation of other districts is proceeding satisfactorily, but the problem of moving the large civilian population is becoming more serious daily. It is impossible thus far to get sufficient ships to take off the tens of thousands of refugees crowding every Thracian port.

Great serpentine columns of humanity, cattle and wagons block all the roads and overflow into the fields. Torrential rain multiplies the misery of the exiles. Most of the Greek army is leaving peacefully, but a considerable portion of the Venizelist officers and men show a tendency to resist.

French to Protect Adrianople

A French battalion which arrived today at Adrianople began taking steps to protect the Moslem population against the Greeks, who threaten to burn Adrianople in revenge for the destruction of Smyrna.

ANGORA, Oct. 18 (By The Associated Press).—President Dviani of the Federated Caucasian Republics has arrived here as special envoy of the Soviet government. He is considered the most influential Soviet statesman in southern Russia, and his coming to Angora is regarded as an important step by Moscow to establish closer relations with the Turkish Nationalist government.

"Russia stands behind Turkey in every demand she makes upon Europe that her rights be respected," he said in the course of an interview to-day. "Turkey must not be content with the return of Thrace and Constantinople."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 18 (By The Associated Press).—The Allied missions reached a unanimous decision today forbidding the Kemalists to permit the evacuation of Thrace to enter Constantinople. The British navy has been ordered to stop all vessels bearing Turkish Nationalist police.

Lyell Barber in Piano Recital Shows Competent Technique

Lyell Barber repeated the favorable impression made here a year ago at his piano recital yesterday afternoon at Aeolian Hall, where he played Handel's G major Chaconne, a Beethoven sonata (Op. 81), Schumann's "Faschingschwank aus Wien" and shorter pieces by Joplin, Turina, C. R. Scott, Tchaikovsky and Liszt. In all of these he gave proof to be a well trained, accomplished pianist, with a sound and competent technique, which showed to advantage in his fluent, rapid runs, especially in the Cyril Scott Impromptu, in which he had a distinctly accurate sound. He had a firm, sustained touch, sometimes too sustained in the Handel number, but usually pleasing, with varied shades of expression and a vigorous rendering of the passages. There was the usual call for extra numbers from an audience of average size and marked enthusiasm.

The Stage Door

John Golden will present Austin Strong's "Seventh Heaven" at the Booth Theater on Monday night, October 20. There will be an invitation performance of the play on the Sunday night preceding the opening. Golden's play, which is playing in Mr. Golden's production of "Applaud," also will appear in "Seventh Heaven," thus playing in two Broadway theaters on the same date.

"It Is the Law," by Elmer E. Rice and Hayden Talbot, started rehearsals yesterday at the Longacre Theater, under the direction of Lester Koenig. Samuel Wallach, who will produce the play, has engaged as cost stars, besides John Golden, Ralph Keady, Arthur Hohl, A. H. Van Buren, Rose Burdock, William Ingersoll, Alexander Orlov, Walter Walker, Frank Westerton, Charles P. Bates and Joseph Steff. Livingston Platt is the art director.

Pauline Armstrong has been engaged for "Virtue"—by William Everett, which is to be produced by the Empire Play Company, Inc.

Lionel T. Cooper, English comedian and stage director, will arrive from London today to the Lyceum. Mr. Cooper is to play Jack Donaghy's role in the London production of "My Darling Clementine" and he has come over to watch the American comedian at work at the Liberty Theater.
